Unichain and the Growth of Layer 2 Networks

Date: 12/03/24

CahillNXT is proud to introduce Crypto Under the Hood, a new regular newsletter series covering hot topics in web3 with clear insights and sufficient technical details to keep you ahead of the curve in the complex world brought by blockchain technology.

In this inaugural issue, the CahillNXT team examines the recently announced Unichain, a Layer 2 scaling solution, which promises enhanced speed and efficiency designed for activities in DeFi, through architectural, political, and logical decentralization. What are the benefits and challenges? What are the legal implications?